

ANDRZEJ SIKORSKI

THE LEGENDS OF POZNAŃ

Illustrated by
ANNA ZIĘTKIEWICZ

Translated by
KRZYSZTOF KOTKOWSKI

THE FOUNDING OF POZNAŃ

The great autumn hunt began. Duke Lech and his team were off hunting in a huge forest. The duke knew all the forests in the area intimately, as he had spent a lot of time here many years before with his father and brothers. He fondly reminisced about those times and recalled his father's advice:

“Know your place on earth! Be strong and vigilant! And stay together!”, he said once to his sons Lech, Czech and Rus, during a hunt for big game in distant hunting grounds.

“When all three of you stand together, it is as if you were four! Once each of you finds a place to call home, remember about the others and keep returning here, for this is our land.”

